Winners happy with prizes

Although each of the winners in The Western Review photo contest already had a camera, they all seemed to be able to find a use for the new ones which they received last Sunday.

The camera, which included a Pentax MX 35mm, a Pentax K1000 and a Pentax Asahi 110 were prizes in a contest which ended around life in Drayton Valley.

Larry Block of Drayton was the first place winner with his color shot of a gas plant. His prize in the contest was the Pentax MX, a camera which has already found a use.

Tammy (Mr. Block's girlfriend) has already had a claim on this one," he said with a smile.

Kiiff Washburne of Drayton Valley received a Pentax K1000 for his second place prize. Mr. Washburne took a color picture of a belt of lightning with a landscape in the background.

The camera will be the second Pentax K1000 which is owned by the Washburne family. According to Mr. Washburne's wife Robin, the camera is destined for other things, namely her

"I told him that if I had to go on the camera I was going to get to keep it," she said.

As for third place winner Bob Baxter of Watrous, he isn't too sure of what he will do with his prize of a Pentax Asahi 110. If nothing else, he may give it to his sister.

Mr. Baxter received his award for a side of a pump jack throughout the summer.

Tires stolen

A 17-year-old Drayton Valley man was arrested on Sept. 19 after RCMP discovered that he was in possession of stolen tires and rims.

According to Corporal Chris Lee, an investigation into the incident revealed the tires and rims had been stolen from local residents throughout the week.

The man will be appearing in court on Sept. 28 on three charges of theft under $500, said Corporal Lee.

Drivers impaired

Two Drayton Valley men each received a $600 fine and six month suspension after being convicted last Thursday of impaired driving.

Blair Austin was charged with impaired driving as a result of a motor vehicle accident on June 8 and Kirk Hendrick was charged in a routine check on Aug. 6, said Corporal Chris Lee.

Biker injured

A motorcycle driver sustained minor injuries after losing control of his bike at the Ledegrove turnoff early on Friday night. His motorcycle, a 750 Suzuki, was destroyed in the accident.

Therapy treatments were provided at breaking property at the 8 and W Drayton King by damage two witnesses.

Damage brings fine

A Drayton Valley man was fined $100 in court last week and ordered to pay $25 in restitution to the 19 and W Drayton King for an incident which occurred on Aug. 14.

Therapy treatments were provided at breaking property at the 8 and W Drayton King by damage two witnesses.

Opinions

Funds are needed for education

Parents are not the only ones who should be alarmed at a recent recommendation by a provincial advisory committee on municipal financing.

In its final report given to Municipal Affairs minister Mary Moore the committee suggested school taxes be limited to 20 per cent of municipal taxes.

What the committee, headed by the mayor of Grande Prairie, Hugh Impy, fails to recognize is that our greatest natural resource is our children.

The most interesting topic in Alberta today is our Heritage Savings Trust Fund. What should be realized is that money is only a tool and it is only as useful as the people making use of it.

No matter how many billions of dollars we leave to our young people, they will have to have the ability to administer those funds sensibly. But if we don't give them the education to enable them to make the right choices we will be limiting their options.

Our children are a long term investment. While in school, or not, for them now will have far-reaching effects for decades to come. This fact cannot be stressed enough.

Right now many municipalities are facing financial cutbacks. It is difficult for the councillors making the decisions as to what gets dropped to dispositionally look at the tax funding received by school boards.

There is no denying that schools are allotted a large share of our tax dollars, but it is for good reason: our children will be the ones who eventually hold the reins of power.

To tamper with their future (and indirectly our own) is dangerously shortsighted.

Thanks for Terry

Last year's Terry Fox Run was a success, but last Sunday's turnout by Drayton Valley residents proved it wasn't a bandwagon event.

People seem to have short memories in regards to many things. But the people of this town should be proud that they responded once again with time and money for the cause Terry Fox worked so hard for.

By supporting cancer research through his memory, the runners, volunteers and donors demonstrated they believe in what he did.

The support given this year shows that this town did not make a "bleeding heart" response to his cause last year. His memory was well-served and all those involved deserve thanks for it.

DONNA HAUKE DAL, dropped off this picture also took on her holidays. She used to be the driveway janitor for The Western Review.

Editor's Notes

Last Wednesday I stopped by AM Plumbing and Heating to do a story on Drayton Valley's largest plumbing business closing its doors. But after talking with Art Munro for a few minutes I realized there is more to the story than another one of Drayton Valley's businesses falling victim to the poor economic conditions.

He was frank when asked why he's closing operations. "The long and the short of it are the economics," he answered, "I have too big a building here for the work I can get."

"When you're set up for a crew of 18 to 25 people and you have to drop to four you can't pay your overhead and make a dollar."

We didn't dwell on the topic for very long. As a news story it had to be covered and it didn't take long to get the information.

But people are what make a community and he and his wife, Virginia, have been here for almost 27 years. They've raised two daughters and a son in this town and now that they're leaving they deserve some form of recognition for their contributions to it.

They moved out here from the Ottawa Valley and stayed for a little more than a year before moving back east. But "it seemed pretty dead down there after having been here," he said, so they returned to Drayton Valley.

He spoke fondly of those early years and the friendliness of the residents. "When we first came everybody was in the same boat."

"No one knew anybody else and so they had to be more friendly."

Mr. Munro has been a member of the Elks

Club for almost 20 years. He was also involved in minor hockey for a number of years as a coach, referee and equipment manager. "I enjoyed every minute of it," he said.

When the Rebels senior hockey team joined the Mid-Central League he worked with it and served on the executive. That association lasted for about 10 years. "I drove players to the games and yelled and hollered at the referees," was the way he passed off his role.

At this point I commented on how he had been a busy man. "If you're around you get involved in so many things—oh, that's enough," he said.

His wife has been a long-term member of the Royal Purple. "She's involved in the hospital auxiliary and has helped run the Thrift Shop ever since it started," he added.

Mrs. Munro is also a spare school bus driver and as her husband said, he can't keep track of all that she's participating in. "She's always doing something," he said.

The Munros will be moving back to his farm in the Ottawa Valley soon. It's the 50-acre farm he grew up on which was his father's before him.

"I'm just going to go down and putter for six to eight months and decide what I want to do," he said.

"Going to miss Drayton Valley? I should hope so!" was his answer to one of the last questions in the interview.

Drayton Valley residents will miss him and his wife, as well.

Perspectives

It was late Friday morning and the countdown was on; only a few hours remained until the start of the vacation.

As I cleared up the last of the week's work, my mind began to wander towards summer climates. Namely those of Salmo, B.C.; the target for the first week of holidays.

With vacation preparations in mind, I spent most of lunch hour in last minute errands. It was only when I returned to The Western Review that I noticed something looked different.

The fence in the back lot was strangely out of place and one of the posts was shattered. Not only had the post been broken in two, but it had also been pushed into my car on the opposite side of the fence.

Definitely a hit and run, I could tell that this vacation was already off on an interesting note.

Visions of constant holiday car problems began to run through my head.

The weather began to turn cloudy and the prospect of rain seemed quite good.

It was only after we reached Salmo, the so-called "summer clime", that the rain began in earnest. Not only did it rain, but the clouds never seemed to break during the first three days.

I figured it was the monsoon season, a time of the year which usually hits Salmo around early to mid-October.

It wasn't until mid-week that the weather began to improve and get hot.

At last, things were starting to look up. What else could possibly go wrong?

My answer came that Sunday in Radium, B.C., which was on the next leg of the journey. We had neglected to reserve a room in Radium, a poor idea considering we arrived in the middle of the Labor Day weekend.

Radium was full, with every motel, hotel and campsite showing a no vacancy sign.

After completing three full circuits of the town without finding a place to stay, the best plan seemed to be to move on.

As they say, bad things come in threes and after this holiday I certainly believe it. The rest of the trip went smoothly.

UNAPresident upset with hospital tardiness

Dear Editor:

The article in the Sept. 8 Western Review "Pay increases at the end."

The Arbitration Tribunal Award came down July 18, 1982, but the A.I.A. did not get the agreement out to our hospital until Aug. 6, 1982. Yet U.N.A. Local #28 received a check of money from our union provided after almost two weeks prior to this.

Perhaps the A.I.A. and the hospital should get their act together and work out a better communication system.

And then perhaps if that took place we would not have to wait so long to receive our retroactive entitlements.

After all, it has been almost months since our contract expired and we are still waiting for our rightful entitlements. Apparently the hospital adjusted member salaries for the August payroll but at least one member was not paid and instead she received her old salary.

I certainly do not know why it is taking the hospital two and a half months to calculate our retroactive pay and I have yet to hear any other news as to what they understand the problems involved with.

I along with others, have been anxiously waiting for our retroactive pay and why should it well it is money that has been awarded by the tribunal and should have been in place a long time ago.

Yours truly,
Melissa Swartz

NDP'er wants policy differences cleared

Dear Editor:

The idea of a mortgage subsidy plan using Heritage Trust Fund money has been getting a lot of publicity lately. As a candidate for the New Democratic Party I would like to distinguish between our proposal and the plan being considered by the Tories.

In the Conservative's tentative proposal, released a couple of months ago, the house purchaser would pay a bank or mortgage company 18 to 14 per cent of as 18 to 14 per cent mortgage and the government using Heritage Trust Fund money would pay the other five to six per cent.

This proposal would subsidize the profits of banks and Fund to first time home buyers and home owners reentering on the home they live in. We would use the Alberta mortgage companies nearly as much as the home buyer.

The proposed plan of the New Democratic Party would loan money at 18 per cent directly from the Heritage Trust Treasury branches to handle the transactions. This would avoid setting up a separate bureaucracy and too direct government involvement. Also since the mortgage would be repaid plus interest the fund would continue to grow and be available to future generations.

BREWERS SCORE A major on their way to victory over Saints in Pembina Flag Football League action.

Brewers undefeated in flag football

Brewers have jumped to an early lead in the Pembina Flag Football League with three victories in their first three games.

They overpowered Saints 20-6 last Thursday (Sept. 19) to establish themselves as the team to beat this season in the local flag foot.

An experienced core of veterans proved too strong for Saints' inexperienced offensive attack. The attack post Saints' record at two wins and one loss.

In action on Sept. 13, Panthers were about 5-6 at the half, but they faltered in the second to drop a 20-6 decision to Brewers.

Saints scored first in their game against Rams on Sept. 14, but the Evansburg entry came back with a long touchdown play. Saints scored again to end the first half and then trailed to a 24-6 win over a strong Rams defense.

In action on Sept. 15, Crusade opened with a field goal, but then Brewers got into high gear, scoring two touchdowns to close the half up 14-0. Crusade moved the ball well, but the Brewers ruckered up a pot of majors. Final score was 27-11 for Brewers.

The schedule in the Pembina Flag Football League this week is as follows: Thursday (Sept. 23) Saints versus Crusade at 8 p.m.; Friday (Sept. 24) Panthers against Rams at noon, and Brewers versus Crusade at 8:30 p.m.

All contests are played at West Valley Park. Earlier action saw Crusade play Panthers on Sept. 18 and Rams go against Brewers on Sept. 21. Results were not available at press time.

Ceasars gear up for finals

Drayton Valley Ceasars ended their season on a winning note Sunday, registering a 5-0 triumph over Spruce Grove.

The win placed the local team in second at the end of the regular season in the Central Alberta Rural Tennis Association.

Slow pitch planned

A slow pitch softball tournament is slated for the weekend (Sept. 25 and 26) as a wind-up to the ball season.

At least six teams will take part in the event set for the main diamond at West Valley Park. Mixed teams consist of six men and four women.

A number of special events are planned, including contests for home run king and games, as well as long ball throw championships.

Entry fee is $100 a team, which will go towards the price of trophies and other awards.

Any interested teams or individual players can contact organizer Wayne Hawshaw for further information at 842-5511 or 842-5451.

Flyers prepare

The executive of Drayton Valley's senior men's hockey club is now planning for the upcoming 1982-83 season in the Central Alberta Hockey League.

After a representative George Bergquist, Kevin Butler and Lynette Harris have stepped up preparations for the season, the club is looking for a larger meeting in Bentley on Sept. 1.

Proposed made at the meeting include the setting of Wednesdays and Saturdays as game nights in the Evansburg loop. Clubs will be Alta. Drayton Lake, Rocky Mountain, Hays, Bentley, Edville, Drayton Valley and Invermay Falls.

There will be a 54-game regular schedule, with teams playing each other four times. Playoffs are slated to begin in mid-November.

It was decided at the meeting that efforts will again be made to attract spectators when games are tied after regulation play. If there's no scoring during overtime, teams will be awarded one point for the draw.

An all-star game has been suggested for Jan. 29 in Edville. Bentley, the CAHL 1981-82 champions, will take a second round-up of last season's champions.

Constance Anderson of Invermay will be CAHL president for this season and Vern Anderson of Bentley will handle the office of vice-president.

On the business front, Drayton Valley is now in the process of acquiring a new coach, as well as administrators and players.

Anyone interested in joining Flyers in one of those capacities can attend the first team meeting tomorrow (Sept. 23) at the Bentley Park side office. It starts at 8 p.m.

BRIAN WOOTEN of Brantford.

Small crowd treated to plenty of action

For those who attended, excellent weather, top local riders and quality riding stock made for a first class rodeo in Drayton Valley last weekend.

"Everything went well except for the crowd turnout," said rodeo organizer Ken Hup. "While he attributed the somewhat poor turnout to a number of other events such as the Terry Fox Run being held on the same day, he said the event will be held again next year," said Mr. Hup.

He added that it will probably be scheduled a little earlier in the season than it was.

The event was put on by the Moonlight Trail 4-H Light Horse Club to promote the NEACRA circuit and profits will be awarded to the competitors from the rodeo.

Local bull rider Alan Brown placed second in his event and another local favorite, Eric Tullin, was the leader in barrel racing.

Some unexpected entertainment was provided towards the close of Sunday's action. Two bulls escaped from the arena at the same time and ran through the parking lot and into the campground area.

A bull which had just been ridden managed to break through the main gate at the end of the arena. At the same time the previous bull out broke out of the halting pen gate and galloped into the arena at the same time. The bulls escaped through the gate as well.

Both bulls ran behind the corral and along the backstretch to the campground area. Cowboys chased them on horseback and finally captured the two of them in the middle of West Valley Estates.

No one was injured in the incident and action continued shortly after the bulls escaped and until they were returned to the halting pens through the arena.

Also appearing during the bull riding event was rodeo clown Ricky Tidy Wanchuk. He was accompanied by stand-in bullfighter Roda Birch and Ron Brown.

Wanchuk and Birch provided the crowd with lively entertainment during the bull riding and with a show in the middle of the event.

Following the rodeo, Mr. Hup was pleased with the weekend's activities. "The stock was good and we had good riders," he said.

"It was well organized and our sponsors supported us well."

Search is on for new ball diamond site

The Town recreation department is now in the process of determining the best location for some badly needed baseball diamonds.

At a meeting held at the municipal office on Sept. 18, facilities director Colin Bonfield met with representatives from a number of ball clubs to decide just what they want in a new facility.

In attendance at the meeting were Herman Wiebe and Wayne Hawkes of Drayton Valley, Stephen, Tom McGee representing the Drayton Valley Football League, and Lorne Kelly of the Lethbridge Ladies Football Club.

A grant of $5,000 from the Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 389 has enabled the recreation office to be able to plan to build the new diamonds.

A number of locations have been suggested, but there is no one area which appears to be available without any hindrance.

The parking lot area behind the grandstands at West Valley Park was considered, but there's a possible safety hazard due to its close proximity to a parking lot. Mr. Bonfield said.

Probably the most viable alternative is constructing the diamonds on the field in West Valley Park, as determined at the meeting.

It was agreed that this pitch would be the best place to build, but a possible conflict exists between two user groups already occupying the field.

"The flag football and soccer leagues use the main field, and Mr. Bonfield noted these groups may object to moving to another location. The facilities at Frank Madden High School were suggested as alternative grounds for both football and soccer.

The ball representatives decided to contact organizers from the other two sports and inquire if they're willing to switch to the high school. They want the soccer and football people to come in for a parent meeting in the near future.

Mr. McGee stressed the importance of publishing the need for new facilities.

"We have to put pressure on them (soccer and football organizers) because it's time to upgrade the ball facilities, as well as the others," he said.

According to Mr. Bonfield, there are going to be more ball clubs playing next year, including those in a new 16-team soccer pitch league. This will make for many more games, and he feels "we'll need two extra diamonds next year."

Mr. Wiebe said the main diamond at West Valley Park "is like a slough" most of the time, compounding the need for a new facility.

"If it rains for 10 minutes, then you have to wait for three days for it to dry," he added.

Mr. Bonfield told everyone that Town council realizes there's a lack of ball grounds, "but they don't have the funds at the time to do anything."

Mr. Hawkes said when the group approaches the football and soccer players, they should tell them straight out, "we want to take over your field."

A consultant will be in Drayton Valley tomorrow (Sept. 28) to assist the recreation department in their search for a proper diamond location.

"The consultant will tell us the costs; what we can and can't afford," Mr. Bonfield concluded.

Group to organize

A Roping movement may be formed in the Estevan area if local residents show enough interest in such a project.

Organizer Billy Birtles feels there's a number of youngsters in the area who may be interested in joining Birtles, Cole and possibly even Birtles.

Mr. Birtles said the main diamond at West Valley Park "is like a slough" most of the time, compounding the need for a new facility.

"If it rains for 10 minutes, then you have to wait for three days for it to dry," he added.

Soccer notes

This regular season ended on the weekend in the Central Alberta Rural Town Soccer League (CARTSL) and final standings were up in the air until the last game was completed. Roy Pals finished with six points with 15 goals in eight games, while the other three players were tied with eight points.

Members of the Soccer Group Committee in Drayton Valley have agreed to help organize a tournament for parents and youngsters who play soccer.

Julian Asselstorf of Whitworth captured the CARTSL scoring title with an impressive 12 goals in eight league games. He'll be honored for his scoring prowess at the award banquet to be held in Drayton Valley on Saturday (Sept. 26) after the championship game. League president Simon Kelly said a Most Valuable Player award will also be presented at the banquet. The local Cansco will also be awarded trophies for sportsmanship, best rookie, most valuable player and most improved performer.

Those wishing to purchase tickets for Saturday's big soccer bash can contact Chris Kelly at 548-4874 or Simon Kelly at 548-7148. The banquet and dance will be held at the Westfield Motor Inn.

Breton cadets take weekend canoe course

By Chris Sheehan

Fun and learning were inseparably combined by a group of Breton cadets during a weekend canoeing excursion to Lake Wakarusa.

About 50 members of the 5881 Breton Army Cadet Corps took part in the canoe course at Camp Mac, a Canadian army state camp situated on the north end of the lake.

The two-day trip included time and lectures on various canoeing techniques, plus actual instruction from the camp's chief of outdoor training, Al Brindley.

A main purpose of outings such as the canoe trip is the development of leadership skills, according to past commanding officer Walter Wynnyk.

"The prime purpose is citizenship. We stress leadership responsibilities," he said. "This particular course is geared largely to beginners."

Other cadets, more experienced in canoeing, help out the younger participants, Mr. Wynnyk explained, and this way the older ones learn to be leaders, while the youngsters gain valuable experience.

After a classroom session early Saturday, the participants headed out to the water.

Water safety was stressed, and drills included what to do when the canoe tips. A number of strokes were also learned.

Group participation was kept in the forefront throughout the lesson, and this kept the level of excitement high.

While a touch of military discipline was evident, it was largely overshadowed by a more relaxed, less-structured atmosphere. All of the youngsters, including a number of female cadets, appeared to thoroughly enjoy themselves.

Various competitions were held to give the young cadets a chance to demonstrate their newly learned skills.

Canoeing wasn't the only activity at Camp Mac, as some trap setting and muskrat work was there for a change of pace. Participants stayed overnight in the barracks on the lake shore and had their meals prepared in an adjoining mess hall.

The Breton cadet squadron was formed in 1967 by Mr. Wynnyk, and he has been in command ever since. He's just now turning over command duties to Mr. Brindley.

Mr. Wynnyk told the military aspect is a main benefit of participation in the canoe program.

"If graduates wish to apply to the forces, they stand a better chance based on their experience with cadets," he explained.

Two recent Breton graduates have been accepted to Canadian military colleges in officer training, Mr. Wynnyk noted. The Breton core is also affiliated with the 5851 Field Artillery based in Edmonton.

The weekend outing was one of about five in which the Breton cadets participate each year. Other activities include winter camps, skiing, fishing and outdoor survival training.

BALANCE WAS THE test of a smooth stroke.

CANOE RACES WERE a highlight of the Cadet outing held at Lake Wakarusa on the weekend.

Champion Tomahawk bull dies

By Chris Sheehan

The recent death of a champion Rimouski bull named the 11-year-old bull, Signal, half owned by Corrie Ranch Ltd. of the Tomahawk area, died of old age on Aug. 10.

Signal produced over 100,000 offspring in his lifetime, netting the owners approximately $1.5 million.

Leading U.S. sports dealer Corrie Ranch Ltd. of Tomahawk, Calif., was co-owner of the award-winning animal.

Although he admitted the loss was unfortunate, Corrie Ranch manager Dale Byrd said Signal's death really wasn't surprising.

"He was equivalent to a 90 or 100-year-old person. His longevity was impressive," Mr. Byrd commented.

Signal was probably one of the most productive sires on either side of the line.

The 2,500-pound animal was imported from France 13 years ago, and sold extensively in U.S. breeding programs.

"This means he's been used from 80 to a couple of years ago to 800 or 850 now," Mr. Byrd said.

Some of Signal's daughters remain in the Corrie Ranch.

The Corrie Ranch is one of the largest in northern Alberta with about 13,000 animals on over 14,000 acres, the manager added.

It's situated 10 kilometres east of Tomahawk.

Heritage Fund decisions coming

By Geoff White and Kevin Peterson
 More Heritage Fund decisions will be made to public as a result of reforms promised for later this fall by Premier Transue and his cabinet.
 The effect of the reforms will be to give the right to approve in advance the investments of the Alberta Heritage Fund.
 Previously, all such decisions were made behind closed doors and subject only to legislative review after the fact.

representatives apply to the Heritage Fund as to the government's investment decisions.
 Up to now, only the $15 billion in the Heritage Capital Project Division has been subject to prior legislative approval. This reform will bring the division's investments to the Heritage Fund as to the government's investment decisions.

RCMP warn of obscene phone call in town

Drayton Valley RCMP have received a number of complaints concerning obscene phone calls over the past week and are cautioning residents about this problem.
 According to Corporal Chris Lee, the detachment has received several complaints over the past week which the obscene caller identifies himself as being from Toronto and then relates to the victim's persona.
 The caller tells the person that their name was pulled out of a telephone book and then inquires if there is a boy named [Name] and then relates to the victim's persona.
 Once the child in the phone, the caller then relates to the victim's persona and then inquires if there is a boy named [Name] and then relates to the victim's persona.

PUBLIC NOTICE WATER RESOURCES ACT GROUND WATER DIVERSION
 Village of Enroute has obtained an Exploration Permit to make necessary examinations and surveys under the Water Resources Act to determine the feasibility of diverting a possible maximum of 80,000 Canadian gallons of water per day (108 acre-feet per annum) from a well on the SE 20-33-7-9 for Municipal purposes. The depth interval to be investigated is from 80 feet to 165 feet.
 Notice is hereby given that should the examinations and surveys prove successful application and plans will be filed under provisions of the Water Resources Act for a license to construct the necessary works to divert water in the amount stipulated above.
 Any person having a bona fide interest in the matter may file objections with the Controller of Water Resources, Alberta Environment, Ordinance Plaza, Edmonton on or before the 25th day of October, 1982.

Sun shines on the Terry Fox runners

Above average temperatures and a brisk breeze made Sunday a day to run in 96 seconds raised an estimated $8,700 for cancer research in Drayton Valley's second annual Terry Fox Run.

"What I called in the results, to the head office they were impressed with what the town has raised," said Colin Beauchamp, Terry employees and one of the organizers of the run on behalf of the town.

"It was quite surprising," he said. "We were thinking it might be slow, but at the end it really picked up."

He added he felt that considering the economic situation, people were hesitant to go out and ask for money.

The run was carried off smoothly with the runners starting on schedule at 9 a.m. Two water stops were manned by Terry personnel department employees Penny McFet and Mark Westly and volunteers. Ambulance department nurse Pam MacLellan reported no problems for the runners other than blisters.

At the end of the course soft drinks and donuts supplied by M&R Trucking were given to the runners. Debbie Hickey, Kathy Palmer and Laurie Beauchamp handled the runner's time, kept track of the pledge sheets and gave them their certificates for completing the event.

Although the runner's time were recorded, "We downplayed the idea of it being a race," said Mr. Beauchamp. "The important thing was participation and we felt that even if someone didn't have pledges they should run to keep the spirit of Terry Fox going."

However, it is noteworthy that Ray Dupperon finished the course in 42 minutes and 30 seconds for the fastest time. Thirteen-year-old Stephen Toney showed well with an eight-place finish in a time of 50 minutes and 30 seconds.

On the higher side, Western Highway resident Chris "Goat" Shaskan shaved over six minutes off his last year's time. Goater came across the line in 2:04:00 with a breathtaking 50 minutes, 35 seconds time.

He was pleased with his performance, but felt he could have done even better for the people who sponsored him. "I could have concentrated a little more on dry land training as opposed to over work," he said.

"It would have helped in the last few kilometers," said Goater. "I also know as Billy Bechthold, shaved 100 feet by a wait one minute and 45 second margin."

Called on enthusiastic group of pledge beneficiaries around a challenge to help young Goater off the course.

After the run she said it was all in good fun and that she hadn't really intended to make a run of it—she felt she ran more against herself than as a runner.

She did add that now that she's finished training she's going to have to start charging M&R Trucking for towing their Commander out when it gets stuck.

The runners will be collecting the pledge money from the donors and turning it in to the Terry Fox Bank. Runners will be sent out by the bank's head office for donations over $5.

The Recipe Corner

This year I didn't get any tomatos planted and am missing the luxury of running outside to pick one

However, I did pick up a crate of them at the Farmers' Market and threw them in the freezer. I don't think a thawed tomato would do too well in salads, but they should come in handy for something like the Old 4-Hers never die; they join the Alumni Association. The Alumni organization provides an opportunity for young people with a common interest in 4-H to get together and work toward common goals. Anyone 18 years of age and over who was not presently a 4-H member is eligible to join.

Helping plan and provide resource people for 4-H workshops, public speaking programs, clinics, demonstrations and camps are some of the major areas in which Alumni members can contribute to the total 4-H program. Experience is one of the best teachers and by becoming involved in 4-H Alumni, previous members are able to feed back into the

Participation in exchange, community service ventures and social activities are also a large part of an Alumni program. Activities co-ordinated by Alumni groups throughout the province include winter camps, promotional campaigns at fairs, rodeos, as well as riety of activities such as sports and dances where members share a genuine sense of time.

Growth in 4-H Alumni and other rural youth groups across the province have prompted the formation of a provincial organization. It is hoped that this association will strengthen the overall program by encouraging

Uhryn and Brown wed here

On Sept. 6 at 2 p.m. in the Drayton Village United Methodist church, the wedding of Brenda White and Robert Brown took place. Brenda, the daughter of Walter and Mary Brown, and Robert, the son of Rev. Robert Aldridge in a double-ring ceremony were the organists. The bride wore the organist. The bride wore a white gown of silk and lace with a white tulle train and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses. The groom wore a tuxedo. The bridesmaids were Darlene Rothhaar and Maureen Gilmore. The girls were dressed in long, pink and white dresses. The bridesmaids wore pink hats trimmed with flowers. They carried pink and cream colored bouquets.

The groom wore a suit of white and his attendants, Bob Dow, Dave Thrash and Maureen Gilmore, were brown suits.

The ushers were Darron Brown of Devon, nephew of the bride, and the best man, Kwansyah, uncle of the bride.

The reception was held at the Elks Hall and was catered by the Royal Purple. The cake was white and trimmed in pink roses.

Seated at a special table were the bride's parents, Walter and Eleanor Uthyn, the Rev. Robert Aldridge, Lloyd and Leona Brown, the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Lloyd was also the best man. Also seated at this table were the bride's grandparents, Bill and Lena Uthyn and Grand ma Rose Kwamchi.

Out-of-town guests came from Edmonton, Calgary, parts of British Columbia and Saskatchewan.

Open house was held on Sunday at the bride's parents' home. Walter and Eleanor Uthyn.

The couple are residing in Drayton Valley.

Frosh go through the mill

ELIJAH DEBARLAIS took the plunge with a raw egg in her mouth.

By Stuart Adams
Three days of high school were capped with a parade and a kangaroo court for the new arrivals at Frank Maddock High School last week.

The incoming Grade 10 students endured Monday's "Frosh Day" when they had to dress up in a prescribed costume. The seniors observed the strictest dress code regulations as each of the frosh was expected to show up with their clothes on backwards, a red nose, a red baseball cap and wear one running shoe for footwear.

"Outgroups Day" gave all the frosh free rein to wear whatever they felt was in keeping with the theme. "There was one guy wrapped in Burn Wre," said frosh Pam Roth.

The final day, Wednesday, was called "Opposite Sex Day" and the frosh had to dress in clothing of the opposite sex. It was on this day that they had to parade through downtown at noon hour before returning to school for the kangaroo court.

Held in the main gymnasium, they participated in water balloon races which got out of hand briefly, when a few of the balloons didn't complete the race.

The kangaroo court was convened to mete out justice to frosh guilty of various infractions of the week. Late were kept by the seniors of the names of offending frosh and the court dealt with them in its own unique way.

Offences deemed worthy of prosecution were most things not knowing the frosh pledge, which was "To my honorable superior seniors, I know I'm not worthy, I promise to be a humble, lowly frosh. I know I'm not worthy of your expectations, but I know that through hard work and determination I will rise myself to the level of superiority that you hold."

Frosh leading in enthusiasm on the ability to know in the hallway and sing the frosh pledge was written up as a "violation."

Other infractions included not being able, or refusing to tie a senior's shoe laces or touch a senior's hair.

The seniors handed down in the "court" included "jumping off the stage with a raw egg in the mouth," and "sneaking for a blowover in a pile of whipped cream with your mouth."

Calling raw spaghetti with one's hands had seemed to go over well with the audience, as did the pudding eating contest. Frosh were blindfolded and then given chocolate pudding to feed each other—the results were impressive.

The court ended with the especially acrobatic individuals, those convicted of balance crimes, being treated to the "Four Seasons" as supplied by "symbolic" application of "symbolic" substances.

Particularly for the frosh the day ended after the court and the school's staff went into a staff meeting.

DARREL HARBENGLER and RON MOEDER were carrying the banner for this year's frosh.

Ash produces good berries

Many people believe that the red berries on mountain ash trees are very pretty but have no useful purpose.

According to Alberta Agriculture's food and nutrition home economist, this is not the case. Mountain ash berries make a delicious jelly, which, because of its slightly bitter flavor, makes an excellent accompaniment for many dishes.

Many of the "wild" berries which they are not. Next time you are out in the bush and see the berries, pick them up.

Pick the berries when they are ripe—they are not ripe until the birds start eating them. Then remove the stems and bail them.

The Homemakers

by Janice McGregor

Now, during the time as you add the sugar. Now boil the juice and it reaches the jelly stage. Finally, when the jelly and seal it in hot sterilized jars.

If you do not have a jelly thermometer to tell you when the juice has reached the jelly stage, use the shortest test. It entails dipping a small metal spoon into the boiling jelly and then holding it 12 to 15 inches above the container and out of the steam. When you turn the spoon so that the liquid runs off the side. If two drops form and run together before dripping off the sides of the spoon, the jelly stage has been reached.

Another recipe suggested by the food and nutrition home economist calls for four pounds of mountain ash berries, four pounds of concentrated orange-juice-sugar syrup, three cups of water to cover them, bring the berries and the syrup to boil in separate containers and let them simmer until they are soft. Then strain them through a jelly bag.

Now mix equal quantities of the two types of fruit and add one cup of sugar to each cup of the mixture. Finally, add the spiced oil, boil the juice until it reaches the jelly stage (usually about 10 minutes) and then seal the jelly in hot, sterilized jars.

ROBIN SMITH and CORBIN JOHNSON don't care as what let for the parade.

You can't get into swimming if you can't get into your swimsuit.

Breton library membership rise dramatic

Library Board will begin again at the Breton United Church on Sept. 28. If you are interested in starting a class, you are most welcome. If you have any further questions contact Eileen O'Brien.

The Breton Municipal Library would like to announce the arrival of their new books. The collection was donated by the Breton "Historical" Society.

The collection was a 1982 edition and are for use in the library only.

There is a new selection of adult fiction, non-fiction, mystery and large print books. There are some talking books also and for further information in these areas, the library.

There are a few new books in the junior section and they are Gray Ghost of Taylor Ridge, Sisters in Happy Island, Silas and the Runaway Coach and Yellowknife.

The library board has declared the month of October as sensory month, meaning that there will be no films on over-the-hillers returned that month. There will also be a prize awarded for the book returned with the oldest due date to both the adult and children categories.

The library hours are Tuesday through Saturday from 12 to 5 p.m.

The library board was pleased to learn that the library membership has declined since last October when the new library opened.

The membership have risen from 36 to 277. If you need a gift and don't know what to buy, why not get a history book about the

We're Getting Better All the Time.

Now is the time to travel

By Joanne Berger
The moon is in Scorpio as well as in first quarter. Pundits operators or anyone planning to buy now with an eye to fattening up and reselling at a profit, this is the time to buy. Get those winter bags and those stock animals.

A Farm Wives
Almanac

by Joanne Berger

All animals will be at their cheapest now. Ergo, be the buyer, not the seller, if you have a choice. Any diet that begun now should result in weight gains. Ergo, start diets intended to fatten up, but whatever you do, don't begin a reducing diet now for it is doomed to fail.

September 22 full official by bigness. This is the time of the equinox at which time you may see equinox late all night.

This is also the time when stock animals that have dropped about all summer and can't survive the winter will announce their fall. Sept. 23 and 24 the moon is in the last, dry sign of Sagittarius as well as in first quarter and waxing. This is the time to take a new trip and start some new studies either alone or with a group. Write and mail letters of both friendly and business nature. If your winter wardrobe isn't yet ready, this is a good time to start knitting that scarf or sewing some clothes.

Things dry up well as consider washing calves and lots now. Have your adding teeth removed, and consider doing the same for older animals.

September 22 the moon is at apogee—its farthest from the earth for this month. Sept. 23 to 27 the moon is in Capricorn and moving from first to second quarter, still waxing. Nights are getting lighter. Animals and children may still be wined. Do your baking now with confidence.

If you have spare cash floating around, you can invest it in securities or property or surely put it in a savings account. No matter what you do, it should be a good investment now.

You can outsize sewing and knitting your winter wardrobe. September 22 and 23 the moon is in the wonderfully social sign of Aquarius as well as in second quarter and waxing.

Think pleasure and travel, party or job a new social group with confidence. This is the time for new brides to throw their first party and the time for shy, insecure men to ask those perfect girls for a date. Don't turn away a blind date, either.

even if the last several made you wish you were blind! Even if the blind date isn't a great person, you'll enjoy the party.

Like notable types can stay at home sewing or giving their hair much-needed treatment. This is the time to have a perm, get your hair straightened, or try that fantastic new dye. When lucky week is over, your dress Sept. 24 to Oct. 21.

Oct. 21 the incident of all Gemini have birthdays between May 20 and June 4. The lucky number to remember is 7.

Important days this week—Sept. 27 is Yom Kippur.

Baby, birthday and holidays for Buck Lakers

By Leola Larson
JMS-122

Buck Lake News

Congratulations to Cliff and Madeline Rupp on the birth of a baby girl born in the Rinsley Hospital on Sept. 4. She weighed eight pounds, 11 ounces, and is named Carrie Lane. Her mother stayed with the baby for a couple days while Mel was in hospital.

Love and Janette Rupp stayed with Rudy and Vera

Bruce for a couple days but was home on Sept. 10. Bill and Mary Richmond went to Jasper for the long weekend to visit their daughter Marion and Ray Smith.

Joyce and Norma Ingalls went to Orkney Lake for the long weekend. They had hoped to pick blueberries but it rained all weekend.

Lawry and Gertie Pat have moved into their new home. It is located just a mile north of the recreation centre. Rudy and Vera Rupp enjoyed a week vacationing in B.C. and Alberta. Happy birthday to Jarvis Jellett.

Special grouse recipe given

By George Matheson

I was talking with the local Conservation officer, Don Omdersbach, a while ago, and he pointed out an interesting thing in the Big Game Regulations Summary for 1982.

The general rule states for Zone 5 opened Sept. 15 but the general moose season did not.

Don was sure that hunters would be out on that day and that some of them would be about half moon.

It is the hunter's responsibility to know the seasons for grouse. If you happen to have an unlucky enough to fall into the above situation you have my understanding but not my sympathy.

What I want to share with you today is a recipe for grouse that is very good.

There appears to be lots of grouse this year and a hunter should not have too much trouble collecting a few.

By the way, did you know that porcupine meat includes the quills in its fur?

Much of the "gummy" flavor of birds can be removed by taking out the gizzards as much as the bird is killed.

For this particular recipe you will have to skin and fillet the bird.

Skinning a grouse is easy. All one has to do is turn the skin backside and off, all the way.

Once the bird is skinned it becomes a simple matter of cutting away the meat. First cut behind the wing and up through the breast and down the legs.

The breast meat will consist of the two larger pectoral muscles plus the two smaller minor-pectoral muscles. I like to slice the two larger pieces of meat in half.

Take some time in which you have added some of your favorite spices and lightly "baste" the meat. Have the broiling done.

Broil the meat in a shallow greased with butter. When the meat is a light golden brown remove it from the broiler and set it aside.

Using the remaining butter and the butter and juices in the broiler make gravy. You can also use melted chicken grease.

When the gravy is nice and thick you may add a little white wine.

Gun Rock

Place the browned meat in a casserole dish and heat it with the gravy. Bake in the oven at 350 degrees F. for one hour.

If you really want to go in the way of fine dining, serve the grouse with wild rice and sweet potatoes.

You must remember that wild rice should be soaked overnight before cooking. Soaking the rice allows it and expands it so it is tender to eat.

PUBLIC NOTICE
BY-LAW NO. 52
A-T-T-N-T-I-O-N

RESOLVED OF THE COUNCIL OF THE COUNTY OF PARKLAND NO. 31

The Council of the County of Parkland No. 31 intends to construct an addition and renovation of the Elks School in the Township 5, T. 5, R. 15, S. 16.

Boys' and Girls' Club and Shower rooms
A Kitchen and a Storage Room
Physical Education Teacher's Room with Shower and Staff's addition to the gymnasium

A total area of 2000m² to be added at an estimated cost of:

Building and renovations (inc. fees) $291,000.00
Salvage of materials $15,000.00
Foundation Investigation & Survey $5,000.00
Site Plan $100.00
Total $311,000.00

In order to carry out this project the Council intends to apply to the Local Authorities Board for authority to borrow an estimated $400,000.00.

Of that estimated amount, $144,000.00 is proposed to be paid from the School Foundation Program Fund.

The Council has resolved to have to repay $256,000.00 by way of debentures payable in 25 consecutive annual installments with interest at the rate of 12 per cent determined from time to time by the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation.

The actual division of costs between the School Foundation Program Fund and the Council will be determined within three years from the time of acceptance of tenders or other schemes of construction.

If you do not agree that the Council should borrow this amount, you may petition for a vote in accordance with the provisions of sections 2, 3, and 113 of the School Act.

The petition must be signed by at least (a) 25 per cent of the electors in a district or division having 10,000 electors or more, or (b) 5 per cent of the electors in a district or division having less than 10,000 but 5,000 electors or more, or (c) 10 per cent of the electors in a district or division having less than 5,000 but 500 electors or more, or (d) 15 per cent of the electors in a district or division having less than 500 electors.

and be received by the board within 15 days of the last publication of this public notice of the proposed debenture borrowing.

Dated at Drayton Valley this 10th day of September, 1982.

CHRIS AND JOE JURICK celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Aug. 31 after receiving their vows with Father Butts at St. Anthony Church. A small party was put on by their daughters, Jo-Anne, Chris Anne and Suzanne. Chris Anne and Suzanne were there to celebrate with them. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Anderson and Doris and Kathy and Jim Mowat were also there from Thunder Bay, Ont.

Wood derricks had their day

By John Gorman

When about drilling technology advanced to the use of the steel rig and rotary drills, the days of the wooden derricks were quickly relegated to history.

While it served the industry well, the wooden derrick was a constant source of difficulty for the driller because of its lack of portability and limited capacity.

Oddly enough, veteran crew members feared the first steel-rigs because of the supposed danger of light, slip, but these concerns were soon allayed. The new rigs had reduced resistance to wind, were easily erected, quickly and easily dismantled, could be transported easily, lasted much longer and provided greater stability and alignment.

Wired was the wooden derrick. In the Queen Midway field in California, a special-wired rig in 1910 blew down 900 of the 1,200 rigs in the field, a 47 per cent loss in

In Australia, rig hands encountered a new and different enemy - bodies of various sizes and shapes which could undermine the wooden rig almost as fast as they were built.

In Pennsylvania, forest fires were another enemy of the wooden rigs, and fire was a hazard generally for the oil-well timber rigs.

Harry Weider, a veteran of Turner Valley days, remembers building wooden rigs out of high quality B.C. fir which was delivered in the well who mostly in rough trail plants. The last such rigs were probably built in 1910.

The plants were driven together with 4½ inch whip and the timbers were not by two men with a crescent bar and it took from one to 10 days to back-breaking labor to put a rig together in Turner Valley.

From the very beginning of Alberta, oil-well construction was regulated by the government. The companies were only allowed to drill on every other section. In Texas, Oklahoma and California, there crowded each other. The companies created a virtual jungle of wooden derricks two or three hundred feet apart, stretching for miles in every direction.

Steel rigs brought with them a new drilling technology. The first bit at a well to the drill string on the new rotary rigs were called derricks, and resembled a crudely designed two-bladed ship's propeller.

This method required a new procedure for bringing the rock cuttings to the surface. This was achieved by a circulation process and brought an entirely new branch of chemical technology in the oil industry. It became known as the mud house and developed into an important service to the petroleum industry.

Do I strike you as being a calm person?

Word has just trickled back to me that there's a rumor going around town about me; it appears that people are beginning to think that I'm a calm, unruffled sort of person. Members of the family would get a chuckle out of this, and could quickly develop up many examples of "When Mom had her out!"

I was rather surprised at the things I'm told (sometimes but not always) project, and when the light came up on me long ago, I could only laugh and say, "Oh well... I work at it."

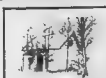

Taking me seriously, the woman I was talking to said "You must write about it sometime!"

And today, for the lack of anything better to write about, I will. But first I'll enroll the dog, put on my rubber boots, and look a rowl through the fields and back, labbing to myself most of the way.

"Am I really a calm person?"

"Not always."

"Well, when I am, why am I?"

Out Our Way

by Wendy Thomson

It And where I'm not, what do I do?

Gradually, reason and reasonings emerged, and I sat on a pile of mud at the new house like long enough for things to get in my mind.

The one thing that kept turning up in my thoughts was the Green Room. That's the spare bedroom here, that has evolved into a "nest" where I go when my mind is anything but calm.

So most of my thinking and reading there, and it's where I go the odd time I feel the need of a rest.

Although we didn't plan the dinner in any particular way, it just happened that the room ended up with a good, peaceful feel to it.

The rag is shades of green, the walls beige and gold, and curtains, spreads, quilts and pillows are all shades of green, grey, gold and beige, all my favorite colors.

So, basically, from the first I was in a room I felt very comfortable in.

To add to the basic comfort, tapes of new age music have been finding their way here, and most evenings the sound of piano, help or Blue Alts out from the Green Room as I unwind.

One day as I was reading and thinking, through the open window came the fragrance of the great mass of roses on the bushes outside. I enjoyed it so much that after the roses were gone, I made sure there were always roses smelling out from the room, or a heavenly candle whose scent fills the air even when cold.

This took care of things to help relax and some sleep down. What about eyes? The walls of the room are gradually filling up with things I especially enjoy... and what are old mementos?

First up was a painting of rocks and daisies that I had behind my desk, when I used to sit at it.

Next came two mounted dried flower arrangements, from my husband and my daughter on Christmas. The strange thing about them was that they're almost identical even though they bought them in Drayton and both sent here from Ontario!

The other pictures are a large photo of a smiling couple with wine cups, a very old pen and ink sketch of a church choir in front, Scotland, and a fairytale illustration of a woman in a shawl and apron, being comforted by a fairy.

Then there's a carving from India, a small clay pot from Fiddlers, Scotland, and a dove of peace impressed into clay to make a pendant.

Each object, fragrance and piece of music has a definite calming effect, and sometimes a "Memento 're-treat'" is all I need to start or end my day.

Other times, I hang a "Do not disturb" sign on the door knob and wonder how long I could stay in there before somebody comes to take me away.

There was a good turnout for the whist games at the Duplex Centre on Sept. 16 with eight tables in play. High score winners for the day were Nina Moore and Palmer Olsen. Congratulations went to Winnie Martin and Leo Jansen.

On Sept. 17, 27 members boarded the community bus for a trip to Hinton. It was a beautiful day and we all enjoyed the trip.

We stopped for a quick coffee at the Castle Restaurant in Edson, and arrived in Hinton in time for a hot meal prepared by the Hinton Good Companion Club. The representatives from New Horizons was there and gave a short talk on availability of grants. The tables were cleared and our speaker, who had been invited to do so, began his presentation. Another, who had been a guest of cards in the game room.

They have a nice centre and some members made good use of the crafts and needle making by the wood work had so on that was on display.

There will be huge games Thursday evenings at 7:30 at the Duplex Centre.

Land donated for swimming pool

By Suzanne Guek

A donation of land by the Watwood Motor Inn adds yet another site for an indoor swimming pool in Drayton Valley. According to Watwood owner Keith Greenhall, the project to donate two and one-half acres of land was made to town council approximately two weeks ago.

The land, which is located behind the Watwood, is to be a good location as it will be close to the new hospital and the school, said Mr. Greenhall. Day work on the pool, however, begins on a five-year plan for council spending which is due later this fall, said pool committee member Alan Sault. Mr. Sault went on to say that the Watwood offer is "very generous" and brings the number of possible pool sites up to three.

The present sites include the Watwood land, an area off the arena and where the outdoor swimming pool is located now, said Mr. Sault. These different locations will be looked at once the five-year plan is completed and the site selection committee can go to work.

Council must adopt the plan before any work can start on the pool, otherwise no one will have how much money is available for a new pool, said Mr. Sault. He added that once the town knows the amount of money which is available they can then have a public vote on whether or not people are in favor of the pool.

Copies of the indoor swimming pool feasibility study are currently available at the town recreation office and the public library. This study takes in the public an idea of what could be included in the pool as well as what the operating costs might be.

Educators hopeful for TV channel

By Stuart Adams

Hope has been revived for an educational television channel for Drayton Valley. A meeting held at the Peninsula Educational Consortium offices on Sept. 21 resulted in the formation of a committee to study the feasibility of such a facility.

Programming for the channel would originate in Drayton Valley and provide local presentations as well as draw from a number of sources of educational material. Peninsula Educational Consortium co-ordinator Brian Munro said there are some exciting possibilities in the educational field which can be tapped via television. Approximately 20 hours per week of credit and non-credit programs are available through such means as satellite and Alberta's ACCESS agency.

Representatives of the five schools in Drayton Valley were present as well as three QCTV personnel and two members of the executive of the Alberta Educational Communications Authority.

QCTV services approximately 75 per cent of the households in Drayton Valley with cable television. Under CRTC regulations they are obligated to provide a channel for community use as part of their licensing agreement. Executive director of the AECA, Brian Krest, said that there is a joint agreement between the provincial and federal governments regarding the educational channels and such in this community.

Content on the channel is handled by the province and the agency designated to handle the programming in each community is responsible to the provincial government. Educational institutions qualify for programming, as do "amateur members" which would want to educate the public. He cited such groups as the E&S, RCMP and Lions as examples.

Mr. Krest also said that if a community can organize itself it can have a joint production facility for both educational and community programming. Examples of local programming would include such things as local sports, a review, cultural and other noteworthy activities. Such a program would require sanctioning by the AECA, he said, but he gave Drayton as an example of a community which is operating under the system.

Government subsidies are also available to fund the community channel once it has been established that a sufficient amount of local programming has been developed. Money will be a factor in determining the feasibility of the channel. QCTV representative Don Pederbridge said the cost of running cable is very high, somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000 per mile.

This was one of the reasons cited for not setting up cable facilities in local schools some ten years ago. Technical difficulties arise when the schools' older type of television cable is used and the new, "10 per cent shielded" variety is mandatory. To use cable, the schools would have to be rewired with the new cable.

PED co-ordinator Brian Munro said there would have to be a facility to house the television "studio". He suggested that the PED offices have the space and the manpower to handle such an undertaking.

He said he offered it as a suggestion only and that the advisory committee would have to look into the possibility. Mr. Pederbridge of QCTV, Kathy Guey, the associate director of AECA, both volunteered to sit on the future committee which was scheduled to meet in the near future.

Students work

By Suzanne Guek

For 26 students it is a job without pay. However, its dividends can be found in work experience, the opportunity to learn and five high school credits.

Although the job may vary from instrumentation to hairdressing, they all provide Grade 12 work experience students with learning experience. Many students view the program as a chance to decide on their future careers.

According to co-ordinator Joanne Miron, the work experience program has been in place at Frank Maddock High School since 1971. This year began the program the same year it was first offered on the Alberta high school curriculum, said Mrs. Miron.

She added that since the program first started the number of students taking the course has gradually increased. In 1982 approximately half of the Grade 12 class was involved in the work experience program, she said. At present, students are encouraged to be interested in the program must submit an application and go through a screening process.

The course is now offered as a filter. Students must always have a reason for taking it, said Mrs. Miron. "We have over 100 different businesses that we could call for student placements," she said. The program is completely dependent upon community (Continued on page 18)
